

Windy Point Restaurant & Café

News October 2007

There is always something happening at Windy Point Restaurant and Café. We've just had the wonderful Bill Hardy of the Hardy Wine Company here for a marvelous dinner in the restaurant and of course we're already planning very special guest chef events and dinners for 2008.

Our executive chef Matt Treloar relishes finding new ingredients and suppliers and has added the fantastic Kinkawooka Shellfish mussels to the menu in the café. Grown in the pristine waters of Port Lincoln they translate into really exceptional dishes that appear on both the menu and the specials. Matt Treloar also recently cooked at the prestigious bi-annual fund raising dinner for the Art gallery of South Australia, an event that raised over $45,000 for acquisitions for the gallery.

What establishment in Australia doesn't celebrate the Melbourne Cup and lunch with us is complete with wide screen television, a terrific sweep with some fabulous prizes and of course our award winning food. Get dressed up girls because we have a prize for the best hat and outfit. Both prizes will be judged by our surprise luncheon guest.

Our outside area adjacent to the café has just been completely revamped and we are looking forward to the hot balmy nights of summer and spectacular sunsets to fully enjoy the changes. But, in the mean time it is a great venue for a private party.

There are some seriously good new release wines on our wine lists where we always aim to pick the best available value for money wines. We are happy to double decant and show a young wine at its very best, or if you're in an indulgent mood we have a marvelous cellar reserve selection. At Windy Point Restaurant and Café we are driven to provide an excellent food and wine experience, whether it is a casual dinner in the café or a more formal dinner in the restaurant. Our menus are absolutely driven by fresh seasonal and local produce, and, as anyone local would know the Adelaide Hills and nearby Fleurieu and McLaren Vale regions have an abundance of wonderful fresh produce and wines to choose from.

Christmas and the festive season are upon us and bookings are filling fast. Christmas lunch in both the restaurant and café is almost full. New Year's Eve, well there is nowhere better than Windy Point Restaurant and Cafe. The same consistent food and service and fabulous view and it does not matter where you sit in either the restaurant or café you will have a full view of the city fireworks. Indulge yourself and really enjoy the wonderful wines we have on offer by arriving and leaving by limousine or even stay the night at our partner hotel the Sebel Playford Adelaide.....see everything perfect!

It doesn't matter if you want an intimate dinner for two, a massive big private corporate party, a wedding or a casual family dinner, our diverse areas and ability to deliver the right experience are always.....at your service.
